

Understanding our world – sustainability and the environment

Course Information

Date: 6th June 2024

Venue: Online (Zoom)

Time: 9:15 – 11:45

Cost: £60

Course Leader: Sarah Huggins

Course Overview

This online training will focus on the environment and sustainability as part of citizenship education and wider school life. We will consider how you can take a whole school approach to tackling this topic which is of both interest and concern to many children.

During the session we will consider some key topics including energy, food, climate change and waste. We will consider how each of these can be included in the taught curriculum but also in other aspects of school life.

Course Objectives:

- To understand the role of schools in sustainability and the environment
- To explore ideas for including sustainability and the environment in the curriculum (with a focus on PSHE education and citizenship)
- To look at ways to include sustainability and the environment in other aspects of school life including themed days/week and extra-curricular activities
